ASSOCIATION FOR HEALTHCARE FOODSERVICE

Dear Business Partners,

The Association for Healthcare Foodservice (AHF) is the preeminent healthcare and senior care hospitality resource for the foodservice industry. Core to our mission is supporting and educating self-operated foodservice professionals. Part of the resources provided encompass exposure to innovative products and programs that you offer. Creating and delivering greater value across the broad spectrum of our stakeholders, including both Operator and Business Partner Members alike, is imperative to our collective success.

HOW IS AHF DIFFERENT? What distinguishes AHF from others is our ability to assist you in cultivating targeted opportunities to drive brand visibility; AHF provides a platform by which you and your company can build meaningful, rewarding relationships with leading subject matter experts. We know that now more than ever, evaluating how and where to allocate discretionary spending matters. Demonstrating a return on investment in both time and resources is vital. AHF Members are key decision makers as it relates to procurement of food, equipment, services and more.

To that end, we are pleased to release our 2023 AHF Annual Sponsorship Prospectus for review. Throughout the following pages, you will find all you and your teams need to know about partnering with AHF and connecting with AHF members. Our annual package includes both year-round benefits to expand your visibility and conference-specific benefits for in-person touch points. AHF can also guide you with any combination of items to custom-fit your goals with AHF's opportunities.

WHY SELF-OP MATTERS: AHF believes healthcare organizations are best served by a foodservice team that is part of a facility's own staff. We call these operations "Self-Operated". Self-operated facilities contribute to a significant percentage of all food and beverage purchases in the healthcare industry. Their sole focus is on delivering the highest quality nourishment, level of service, and value to the patients, residents, medical and support staff, and guests that they serve daily. AHF estimates that self-operated facilities account for more than $5 billion in annual food purchases of the total $12 billion US market. Purchases of equipment, technology and services add billions of dollars more.

Our Annual Conference is a unique opportunity to meet with Directors, Managers, and culinary professionals that have the true autonomy to make purchasing decisions. Of our members, 80% have direct purchasing decision power or are significant influencers making your discussions with operator members increasingly valuable.

AHF's focus is unique in that we truly consider you, our partner. We incorporate business partner participation, recognition, and visibility and consider you, integral and vital to the AHF community. Together we strategize to determine the future of the organization and the self-op sector. Whether you are a renewing business partner or brand new to our organization, we look forward to welcoming you to our association and continuing to build our partnership.

If you have questions about this prospectus or wish to get to know us better, please reach out to AHF's Executive Director Leah Reily by phone or email at: lreily@healthcarefoodservice.org or 1-800-899-1109.

Sincerely,

Robert Darrah
AHF President

AN OPERATOR MEMBER STORY

Building relationships with business partners over the last 16 years as Director has been so vital to my ability to run our hospital food service efficiently and effectively. As an RD who primarily worked on the clinical side of healthcare prior to this role, I only knew our current vendors when I took over in my position. AHF and its legacy organizations, business partners, and the conference marketplace opened my eyes to a world of products that would have taken me years to gain the knowledge absent having these relationships.

Over the years, with capital planning, I have been very methodical about equipment replacement and truly getting quotes for items that are in need of replacement; asking for needs versus wants. At this point, I now approach our annual conference with these items in mind to assure that I visit the business partner booths that can provide information. However, I am like a kid in a candy shop and love to see new innovation and keep up with the times. While I may not be able to immediately implement the new items, I keep them on my want list for the budget years when the “needs” are low. If I didn’t have the opportunity to attend conference and interact with all the sponsors and exhibitors I feel that we would not be as successful and progressive as we are for a small facility.

Currently, about 90% of my purchasing is through sponsors and marketplace businesses that attend conference. Due to the relationships I have built with the company representatives, I feel confident that they are reliable, trustworthy, and want to have our foodservice thrive and grow.

Also, being part of the AHF NJ Chapter and serving on their board truly brings those relationships even closer and at a local level that we feel comfortable with that they are invested in us.

In 2015, I was able to implement a new product at my facility that enhanced our catering communication and processes, while saving money and being more efficient for our facility. If I hadn’t attended the AHF Marketplace I wouldn’t have been able to make these improvements.

Recently, a smaller, non-capital equipment stopped working and I knew that replacing it would cost less than investing in a repair. I immediately reached out to a few business partners that I knew would have a similar model. Because I forged a strong relationship with one of the companies at Conference in 2022, I was able to get immediate specs, pricing, and a delivery estimate that day. I then received the product the next day and our chef was able to continue to operate efficiently.

I truly feel that the AHF Conference and Marketplace sets me up with the vision, tools, and food options to make our foodservice an exceptional experience for our patients and patrons. The knowledge of who to go to when in need has been built over time with my many years of attendance at Conference and I feel fortunate to have had the opportunity to network with the best in the industry.
